

Chapter 8: Phenomenological methods

Eatough, V., & Smith, J.A. (2006). I was like a wild wild person: Understanding feelings of anger using interpretative phenomenological analysis. British Journal of Psychology, 97(4) 483-498.

An interesting example of an IPA study, with a good discussion of IPA and methodological practice.

Pringle J, Drummond J, McLafferty E, Hendry C (2011) Interpretative phenomenological analysis: a discussion and critique, Nurse Researcher, 18 (3): 20-24.

This a short article but a useful debate regarding the uses of IPA, particularly within health research.

Dennick, L., Fox, A. P. & Walter-Brice, A. (2013) Mindfulness groups for people experiencing distressing psychosis: an interpretative phenomenological analysis, Mental Health Review, 18(1): 32-43

A clear and succinct IPA study, based on the analysis of 3 interviews.
